

BY GRANSTON & NORMAN,
127 THAMES STREET.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 15, 1850.

The Bill covering the Probate business from that of the Municipal affairs of this Town, as heretofore transacted by the Town Council, and authorizing the election of a Judge of Probate, passed the Legislature last week. The object of this Bill is to effect a reform, if possible, in the Municipal regulations of the town; the Report of the Special Committee on the subject, at the April Town Meeting, briefly stated the whole matter. The main reasons given were these:—that so long as the duties of Councilmen proper and the Probate business were required to be attended to by the same Board, men who were competent for the one and incompetent for the other, and vice versa, would not accept the places of Councilmen; but that if the two branches were separated, and a Judge of Probate, competent for the office, was appointed, men could be found who would officiate as Councilmen, and who would attend to the Probate regulations of the town, &c., and discharge their duties promptly and efficiently. This is the ground of argument by those who favored the measure in Town Meeting, and upon this the Town acted, and authorized the Delegation in the Assembly to procure the passage of this Bill.

Whether the measure will operate beneficially or not, we are unprepared to express an opinion at present. If anything is to be gained by the operation, toward securing a more efficient Police regulation, and if the Town will be benefited, generally, by this change, we shall support it most heartily. At all events, we shall say nothing against it, and we are willing to give it a fair and full trial, and if it operates beneficially we shall be very glad. As to the municipal and police arrangements of Newport, we think that almost every one must admit that they have long been in a hopeless decline, entirely past recovery. We do not know that it is possible to effect a change under our present system of government; we do not know that any other set of men can do any better than those who are already in power, under the form which we now have. These are matters which cannot be decided until a fair test is had; after this, if we are not better taken care of, we shall know that the difficulty does not lie with the men who administer the government, but in the government itself.

We publish the Law this morning, and our readers will see what changes are proposed.

A Te Deum was sung in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, on Sunday last, on the return of the Pope to Rome. It was executed in magnificent style, and by the who's assembly. Bishop, priests and people standing.

Bennett, of the N. Y. Herald, and Tallor, of the Mirror, are paying each other delicate compliments.

We thank the Hon. John H. Clarke for Public Documents.

The Court of Justices had quite a harvest yesterday, being the ingathered fruits of Election week.

The U. S. District Court, Judge Pitman, met in this town yesterday afternoon; it was in session but a short time, as there was no business ready for trial on the docket.

The Court of Common Pleas commences its May session in this town on Tuesday next.

The Gamblers are giving Concerts to crowded audiences in Boston.

DEATH OF MRS. OSBORN, THE POETESS.—We regret to learn that Mrs. Francis S. Osborn, one of America's sweetest poets, died yesterday, at the residence of her husband, in Twenty Second street, who, with two beautiful daughters, and a large circle of friends, will deeply deplore the event. Her rise, we understand, was consumption. She was the wife of Mr. S. S. Osborn, the celebrated portrait painter.

Among the Highlanders of Scotland there is a current belief that the cross of Christ's crucifixion was fashioned from the ash of a wood; and the now continual quivering of the leaves of this species of poplar, dates from that day of agony and of hope.

THE LAW'S UNCERTAINTY.—A Mr. Corning recovered a verdict of $9,000 against the Connecticut River Railroad Company, about a year ago, for injuries sustained by him; that the company claimed he had been injured by the falling of a tree, and obtained a new verdict. The case has just been tried again, and the jury have rendered another verdict of $10,000 dollars.

AN ACT.

APPOINTING A JUDGE OF PROBATE FOR THE TOWN OF NEWPORT.

It is enacted by the General Assembly as follows:

SECT. 1. That it shall and may be lawful for the Electors of the Town of Newport who are, or may hereafter be, qualified to vote in the election of general officers, at the annual town meeting, for the election of town officers, to elect one of their number a Judge of Probate, in whom, when duly engaged, shall be vested the same and sole jurisdiction in all probate matters as is now exercised by the Town Council of said Town, sitting as a Court of Probate.

SECT. 2. Said Judge of Probate shall proceed and finish all or any unfinished business that may be pending before said Town Council as a Court of Probate. He shall hold a term of said Court for the transaction of business on Monday, of every week, with power to adjourn the same from time to time, and to punish contumacious by fine and imprisonment.

SECT. 3. Until otherwise provided by a vote of the said Electors of said town, the Town Clerk for the time being shall be also Clerk of the Court of Probate; and in case of his death or other disability, said Judge shall and may appoint a Clerk pro tempore, who, unless duly elected, shall serve as such only until the next annual election of Town officers.

SECT. 4. In all cases in which the Judge of Probate shall be a party directly interested in the matter before said Court, the duties of said Judge shall be performed by the person then holding the office of President of the Town Council of said Town, who shall therein be Judge of Probate ex officio.

SECT. 5. It shall and may be lawful for said Judge so to alter the forms of Bonds, process and proceedings, as to adapt the same to the constitution, style and jurisdiction of the Court. The process issuing from said Court, to have the same validity and extent, and be served and executed by the same officers as are the processes of other Courts of Probate or of Record. Provided, however, that the same may be also served by the Town Sergeant, or any of the constables of said town.

SECT. 6. Until other and further provision shall thereafter be made by said Town, the same fees and perquisites shall be allowed and paid to said Judge and Clerk as are and have been heretofore allowed and paid in said Town, in similar cases to the Court of Probate.

A RARE AND NOVEL EXHIBITION.—Among the many valuable and rare curiosities which adorn the walls of Mr. Gliddon's exhibition room, there are, as many of our readers are well aware, two Egyptian mummies, which were taken from the tombs at Thebes in 1815, by Mr. A. C. Harris, an influential resident in Egypt, and which after much trouble and expense were forwarded to Mr. Gliddon, in this country, last November. These mummies are enclosed in the coffins in which they were taken from their long resting places, and have never been opened to human view since the time of their interment.

From the inscriptions upon the coffins it is ascertained that one of them was the daughter of the high priest of Thebes, who lived between the B. C. 1200 and B. C. 1500; about 3200 years ago; and the other was a daughter of a priest or scribe of Thebes, who lived about 2900 years ago.

Mr. Gliddon now proposes to open the coffin containing the first mentioned mummy, in this city, during the first week in June, in connection with a course of three lectures on the "Art of Mummification among the Ancient Egyptians," provided a sufficient number of subscribers can be obtained to reimburse him for his cost. Its commercial value at the museums in Europe would be £300—equal to $1500—and in order to raise this amount Mr. Gliddon proposes to issue to three hundred persons, should so many be found willing to subscribe, four tickets each, to admit four persons to the opening and lectures. The price of subscription to be five dollars.

We will commend this rare and novel source of entertainment and instruction to the attention of our readers, and would express the hope that Mr. Gliddon may receive a sufficient number of subscribers to enable him to carry out his contemplated design. Aside from the great interest which must be felt in witnessing the opening of the coffin, the unrolling of the mummy, and the inspection of the corpse, envelopes, trinkets, papyrus, &c.—the information which will be derived from the explanation by the talented lecturer, will be worth double the sum asked for subscription. Mr. Gliddon will be assisted in unrolling the mummy, and in explaining its peculiarities, appearance, &c., by several of our best distinguished men of science and physicians.

Quite a large number of our most respectable citizens, among them Gov. Briggs, Hon. Edward Everett, President Sparks, Chief Justice Shaw, &c., have already put their names to the subscription paper for the opening, and we hope that the subscription list will be filled immediately. No subscription money is to be received until the opening, when it will be paid in full. Some tickets will be sold at the Ticket House, at the office of the Superintendent of Fremont Temple, and at Mr. Ticknor's store, 135 Washington street.—Boston Post

Ah, Doctor, does the cholera aw affect the highland aydow? asked an exquisite of a celebrated physician in New Orleans. "No," replied the M. D. "but it's death on fools, and you had better leave the city immediately."

The fellow sloped.

THE DEPARTED.

BY PARK RESIDUAL.

The departed! the departed!

They visit us in dreams,

And they glide above our memories

Like shadows over streams;

But where the cheerful lights of home

In constant beams shine,

The departed, the departed

Can never more return!

The good, the brave, the beautiful,

How dear to us their sleep,

Where rolls the dream-like music

Of the ever-living soul!

Or where the hazy twilight winds

Pale winds that robes have spread

Above their narrow palaces,

In the cities of the dead!

I look around and feel the awe

Of one who walks alone

Among the wrecks of former days,

In the great silent town!

I seek to hear the stirring sounds

Among the great dead,

For the voice of the departed

Is borne upon the breeze.

That solemn voice! it mingles with

Each face and earnest strain;

I scarce can think earth's ministry

Will cheer my heart again.

The melody of former waves,

The thrilling notes of birds,

Can never be so dear to me

As their remembered words.

I sometimes dream their pleasant smiles,

Still on me sweetly fall,

Their tones of love I fondly hear

My name in sweetest call.

I know that they are happy,

With their angel-gleams on,

But my heart is very desolate

To think that they are gone.

Powers' statues of "Eve" and

John G. Calhoun.—The Charleston

Mercury publishes an interesting letter from Powers, the sculptor, dated Florence,

April 7th, in regard to his statue of Mr. Calhoun, from which we extract

the following:

I am much grieved at not having an opportunity to send the statue since it has been finished and encased. No-ship has yet presented, and in answer to my enquiries, I now learn that the first vessel for New York will be the "good American vessel Elizabeth, which will sail about the middle of next month." It is hereby possible that some vessel may touch at Leghorn, and sail sooner, in which case I shall be advised in time to get the statue off. I have taken every possible precaution to ensure the safety of the statue. The "lockings" have all been fitted by my own hands, and if any accident occurs

it will not be for want of careful packing, and every possible attention on this side of the water. I intend to go down to Leghorn to see it on board ship.—

It is a fortunate circumstance that this statue was not ready in time for the new and large Swedish ship "Westmoreland," upon which my unfortunate

"Eve" was shipped. She stranded near Carthagena, (Spain,) and was in almost a hopeless condition at last accounts, (the water up to the corridors,) and likely to go to pieces.—

"Eve" was insured for $8000, but I had an ideal bust on board which was not. "This is my punishment for venturing to ship on foreign vessels. I shall not do it again.

We have very bad accounts here of Mr. Calhoun's health. I hope they are exaggerated. It is a small consideration, but to me one of much interest, that he should see my statue of himself;

and I know that you and others who have united in this project entertain similar wishes in this respect. It is very probable, however, that he will see a very good daguerreotype of it in the possession of Mr. Aspinwall, who promised to show it to him. The words

"Truth, Justice, and the Constitution" have been engraved upon the scroll in gilt letters, and as nearly as possible, in the hand of Mr. Calhoun. I have given the form of his writing, but corrected the trembling hand a little.

The effect is fine.

It may be satisfactory to you to know, that as far as I have been informed, or have means of knowing, this statue has given entire satisfaction to all who have seen it here. Some say that it has a more vigorous expression than Mr. Calhoun now has, but this is owing to the time at which I took his likeness, about fifteen years ago, when he was really in his prime. He had, to be sure, the look of age, but none of its infirmities—the very time of life at which a great man like him should be represented by the brush or chisel, for posterity.

The citizens of Santa, Ga., have subscribed $18,000 stock for a Steam

Cotton Factory, to be located in that vicinity. The capital proposed to be raised is $80,000.
